The arrest disclosed the fact that the Federal Grand Jury had indicted Kirsch on Wednesday, accusing him in thirteen counts with having made profits of approximately 33 per cent, through the the Quartermaster's Corps. The contract under which he purchased these goods, it is alleged, restricted him to a 20 per cent, profit.

Under the law, the maximum punish ment upon conviction is two years' imprisonment and $5,000 fine on each count. The corporation of J. A. Kirsch & Co., Inc., is indicted also.

After Mr. Kirsch had entered a pleaor not guilty both for himself and for his company, Federal Judge John C. Knox fixed his bail at $1,500, Assistant United States Attorney Harry E. Kelly agreeing to this figure because of the defendant's standing in the business world. He was arraigned before United States Commissioner Hitchcock and held in $6,000 bail on a warrant charging him with participation in a deal whereby 1,000 pounds of sugar, purchased at 14 cents a pound, had been resold at 22 cents. Spot Covered by Bolshevist's Gun Changes Color.

A patch of white just above the forchead in the otherwise jet black hair of welve-year-old Sherva Bardenstein. who arrived yesterday aboard the Lloyd Sabaudo liner Regina d'Italia, was due, according to her sixteen-year-old sister, Frema, to the impression of the muzzle of a revolver held against her head by one of a band of Bolsheviki last sunmer in the home of her mother in Odessa.

Frems speaks English fairly well and said that Sherva was alone in the house when the marauders entered. searched in vain for money and then put the revolver against the head of the little girl and told her he knew there was money in the house and that she must tell where it war hidden or she would be killed. There was no money and Sherva, who was expecting death from the pistol, said so. The men finally gave up torturing her and left the house. When her mother. Frema and another sister arrived home and heard the child's story they noted that the hair where the muzzle of the revolver had pressed was snow white. The family was met here by the father, William Bardenstein, a prospetous merchant of The Bronx, who took them to his home there.
